

PREFACE

The following abstracts from Rock Island County, Illinois newspapers include all extant newspapers for 1867 which were abstracted from microfilmed copies of the original newspapers. I included all information of genealogical interest except for lists of letters at the postoffice, which so frequently included telegraphical errors, or surnames plus given names with only initials (i. Johnson) that I didn't feel them to be as valuable. I have included the first list of letters from each month that appeared in the Rock Island DAILY UNION. These were not double-checked against my own files.

PREFACE

The following abstracts from Rock Island County, Illinois newspapers include all extant newspapers for 1867 which were abstracted from microfilmed copies of the original newspapers. I included all information of genealogical interest except for lists of letters at the postoffice, which so frequently included typographical errors, or surnames plus given names with only initials (J. Johnson) that I didn't feel them to be as valuable. I have included the first list of letters from each month that appeared in the Rock Island DAILY UNION. These were not double-checked against the lists appearing in the Rock Island ARGUS, so names may vary.

These Rock Island County newspapers frequently contained items of news from nearby Scott Co., Iowa and Mercer-Henry Counties, Illinois.

An every-name index follows, with those more common surnames also indexed by given name.
